

WETS AND DRY SPLIT EVEN IN ILLINOIS TEST

Anti-Prohibition Forces Win
Vote in House; Dry Faction
Wins in Senate

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Wet and dry forces split even when they clashed Tuesday in both houses of the Illinois assembly in another test of strength on state prohibition enforcement. The wets won in the house and the dries won in the senate.

The house by a vote of 78 to 70, voted to take off the table and restore to the calendar an order of second reading the O'Grady bill, which would repeal the Illinois prohibition and search and seizure statutes if the repeal is endorsed in a referendum. A similar bill without the referendum clause, by Senator Marks, republican, Chicago, was defeated in the senate, thirty-two to thirteen.

The author of the house measure, Representative O'Grady, democrat of Chicago, announced he will press for a roll-call on the bill probably tomorrow. The measure is described as less drastic than the New York bill, which recently became law.

ASK U. S. RATE BODY TO RESTORE INTERSTATE TRAINS

MADISON.—The first joint action by two states petitioning the interstate commerce commission in a joint action for restoration of passenger train service was reported by the Wisconsin railroad commission Wednesday. It announced that together with the commission of Michigan it was asking that the federal body order the Soo Line to set up service between Mellen, Wis. and Bessemer, Mich., and the Northwestern line to start service between Saxon, Wis. and Wakefield, Mich.

This petition results from a hearing held before the Michigan and Wisconsin commissions on complaint of H. M. Mark, assemblyman from Iron county, the city of Bessemer and the Ironwood Commercial association. The railroad companies, according to the Wisconsin commission objected to jurisdiction of the two state regulating bodies because the trains to be restored would cross the state boundary.

The interstate commerce commission advised that it would entertain a petition from the state commissions and determine whether the transportation act gives its jurisdiction to settle the case. This is said by the railroad commission to be the first passenger train service petition ever filed by the Wisconsin body with the interstate commerce commission.

Instructive Experiment

PERHAPS the nearest to an unprejudiced observer of Russia has been Fridtjof Nansen, the famous explorer. A liberal, a trained observer and scientist Nansen originally went to Russia as a relief worker, and has spent a year or two in close contact with the Russians, both official and unofficial. His reports on the situation have been apparently fair, at times upsetting to opponents of the soviets in the outer world, and again equally upsetting to the radical cherishers of the soviet experiment. In a word, he has devoted himself to facts.

It is therefore interesting to note that in an article about Russian trade in the magazine "Our World" Nansen mentions incidentally that even in the brief time since the "New Economic Policy" was conceded by the soviets private traders—merchants—are winning the bulk of the business of distribution from the government establishments which remained in competition with them. It will be remembered that the "NEP" was a system of decrees which, although re-affirming communist principles in theory, practically admitted the break-down of the communist effort in practice and permitted the re-opening of private trade. This right of doing private business was not granted until July, 1922, and it is highly significant that in the same month this privilege was granted private traders handled 38 per cent of the goods produced in Russia by the state factories—practically all manufacturing in the soviet republic being still in the hands of the government.

This large percentage of the total distribution is especially significant in view of the fact that the private merchants in Russia have to compete with the government "co-operatives", sales agencies operated presumably to eliminate the middleman's profit. The government co-operatives, when private trading was resumed, had been in operation for several years, while private business was suppressed and completely disorganized. The vitality of private business is indeed impressive when in the first month of its resumption, competing with a government system not dependent upon profits and backed by years of exclusive occupation of the field, it was able to handle so large a share of Russian distribution. "The number of middlemen," says Nansen, "is continually increasing," and he notes that they frequently are able to secure supplies from the state trusts by offering higher prices than the co-operatives.

The present system of distribution in the capitalistic world has many faults without question. But it is the development of the entire history and experience of civilization, and on the whole it meets the requirements of society very effectually. Russia's experience should be illuminating to those who, blinded by the faults and injustices that sometimes arise in the operation of the system, would sweep it all away. Middlemen are necessary to distribution, middlemen of some sort who will gather stocks together for the convenience of the public. And private middlemen, who in order to make a living will apply their best brains and work to selection of stocks and the making of sales, are more useful socially than any government agency which might supplant them. They have an incentive to serve the public which is lacking in a government employee or organization secure on the payroll though business be good or bad.

The world in Russia can see, as in a laboratory experiment, how both systems work, and which is the better fitted to survive. It is an instructive lesson.

To Kill T. B.

THE Schumann bill for the eradication of bovine tuberculosis safely passed the state senate recently, despite strenuous opposition by a few of the senators. This fact, coupled with the assurance given by Governor Blaine to a group of farmers who conferred with him last week that he would do nothing to prevent the bill from becoming a law in the event that it is passed by both houses, is taken as an indication of the confidence of the legislature that the bill means material aid for the farmers.

The governor's statement removes a big obstacle from the path of the bill, since he had previously been credited with the announcement that he would sign no bill carrying more than $500,000 appropriation for this purpose. The bill passed by the senate calls for a million dollars for the eradication work, to be expended over the next two years.

Members of the senate expressed a keen desire to aid the farmer, and also recognized the merits of the Schumann bill as a great step forward in public health service. Hope is being held that the assembly will look as favorably upon the bill as did the members of the upper house. All farmers, dairymen and livestock breeders are being urged to write, wire or visit their assemblymen and the governor in favor of this important measure.

Whoop-Hurroo

CURIOUS things are happening in connection with the trial trip of the steamer Leviathan, recently reconitioned by the shipping board and under sailing orders for a cruise to Cuba with a selected company of guests chosen by Chairman Lasker. For one thing opponents of the shipping board and the administration, chiefly democrats, saw in the trip nothing more than a picnic at government expense; and he-labored it accordingly with loud shouts of horror, similar to those in which the republicans engaged during the Wilson administration on numerous occasions.

They made such outcry, indeed, that certain republicans grew alarmed, and Representative Madden of Illinois went so far as to withdraw his acceptance of an invitation to go along on the trip. Having withdrawn himself from membership in the junket, he joined the outcry against it as indignantly as any. The noise, however, didn't alarm the president. Mr. Harding announced at the white house that he sees no reason to object to the trial run, since competent engineers have advised it before the big liner is ventured on a cross-Atlantic voyage. And the whoop-hurroo about wasting the taxpayers' money slides off first pages.

Oh, yes! We omitted to add that Mr. Madden of Illinois has reconsidered his reconsideration of his original acceptance of the invitation to make the trip, and will be among those present when the Leviathan leaves the dock for Cuba Libre.

A New England Feud

By H. IRVING KING

Between the families of Vaughan and Capron a feud existed. It had originated from a dispute over a boundary line fence and a stray cow a hundred years or so before and had been carefully treasured as a family inheritance by the descendants of the original disputants. Both families were wealthy and prominent in the community and the acres which surrounded their ancestral mansions were contiguous. When John Capron, the last of the name, died, his widow, who had, of course, taken over the Capron name, was strict in her injunctions to her ten-year-old daughter, Louise, that she should never have anything to do with the twelve-year-old boy next door, Clinton Vaughan, son and heir of Judge Nathaniel Vaughan, and threatened to discharge any servant who connived at even a speaking acquaintance between the children. Nevertheless, in spite of this prohibition, or perhaps because of it, the two children took occasional chances of being together, stealing away into the woods, where they met in a secluded place, play at being Indians and "daring" each other with regard to climbing trees. They had some tumultuous childish quarrels, too, as was fitting for a Capron and a Vaughan, on which the neighbors would say, "Your great-grandfather stole my great-grandfather's cow."
Louise would retort, "Your great-grandfather stole my great-grandfather's wood-lot. So there!" They may have missed a generation or two, but the statements were substantially correct as the feudists understood the case. When misad and remained from these secret meetings the children were severely punished and sent to bed without supper by indignant parents, which procedure only served to exult Clinton and Louise in their planning for another meeting.
When Louise was twelve the widow Capron died and her daughter, for wider fields than were afforded by the staid England community. Years passed, and then one day the old Capron mansion was opened again and the widow returned to her long-deserted home. She had married again. Mrs. Capron had dissipated the considerable fortune her husband had left her in extravagant living and European travels, that the old house and its attached acres was all that was left, and that only because it had been left to her by her mother, who had died at her twenty-fifth birthday or upon her marriage.
Meaningful old Judge Vaughan had died a widower, leaving Clinton, a rising young lawyer, reigned in his stead. Several times there had been great foreign trips, once to a great foreign gentleman, but she had returned to her childhood home still single and a most charming and beautiful young girl. Clinton Vaughan, also, was still unmarried. Neighbors whispered that it would be romantic if the heiress of the Caprons and the heir of the Vaughans should wed and end the ancient feud. But there was grim old Mrs. Capron, standing like a great wall between the two families, and by the terms of family tradition, which Louise married without her father's consent, the property passed to distant relatives. Soon after the return of the Caprons Louise and Clinton met in the street of the little village.
It was Louise who broke the ice by advancing with outstretched hand and saying, "I believe you are Clinton Vaughan." "I believe you are Louise Capron," he replied. "Do you remember how we used to steal away to play Indian?" "Remember, I should say I did," replied Clinton. "And the stolen cow?" said Louise. "And the wood-lot," replied Clinton. And they laughed and chatted, just as if there were no such thing as a family feud.
"I would ask you to call and talk over old times," said Louise, and he parted. "Only—let it be absurd! Mother is still sitting up nights with that fatal cow and that calamitous wood-lot."
They met rather frequently after that and even went horseback riding together once or twice. "I suppose we ought to be sent to bed without our supper tonight, as we used to be," laughed Louise upon their return from the first of these equine expeditions. Old Mrs. Capron knew of these meetings—there were servants and neighbors to tell her—but she held her peace, at least until she realized that her mother must know, was puzzled.

Then one day the old lady suddenly said, "Louise, tell that Vaughan fellow to call—I want to talk to him." Had the two big chimneys of the old house tumbled down together, Louise could not have been more astonished. But she only said, "Yes, mother," and conveyed the summons to Clinton. He and Louise held consultation. "What was in this wind? Did the old lady want to quarrel or make up?" The fact was that Mrs. Capron did want to quarrel. She loved a quarrel. But dearly as she loved a quarrel, she loved her own ease and comfort better, and she was about at the end of her financial resources. Without financial resources, she might consider ease and comfort—and by comfort she meant luxuries—were unattainable.
Therefore when Clinton had been brought before her and Louise at her mother's command had left the room, the old lady said, "My late husband little thought that a Vaughan would ever stand as a guest under this roof. I wonder it does not tumble about my sinful head for bringing this meeting about. But age and misfortune have conquered me. Young man, are you in love with my daughter?" Clinton eagerly assented. "Can you support her—and me—in a suitable manner?" The young man clearly proved that he

I Found Youth

And beauty in a French-type clay

By Edna Wallace Hopper

Millions of women marvel at my youthful beauty. I have been 40 years in the limelight, and 32 years a stage star. Yet I still look a girl of 19. I still play youthful parts, and was never more winsome than now.
"These things I owe to France. Her experts made me a famous beauty. They have kept my youthful bloom. And those same helps have done like things for many of my friends."
I know they can bring to millions new beauty and new youth. So I have arranged so all who wish may get them.

The Supreme Help
Many years ago French beauty experts taught me the use of clay. They used then crude and muddy clays, like many still employ. But even those clays multiplied my beauty.
Since then, able scientists have perfected clay by 20 years of study. They have found the right clay—a rare mineral-laden clay—which brings maximum results.
They have found ways to refine it, to remove the useless mud. Their new type clay is white and clean and dainty.
They have discovered added factors which bring manifold effects. The clay I now use—my White Youth Clay—makes other clays seem very crude indeed.

Amazing Effects
Youth purges the skin of impurities. It removes causes of sallowness, blackheads and blemishes, even it draws the blood to the skin to nourish and revive it. The result is that rosy afterglow which so amazes new users.
It firms the skin, combats all lines and wrinkles, reduces enlarged pores. Many women, in 30 minutes, seem to drop ten years. And my youthful bloom and contours show what constant use will do.
A Beauty Essential
Clay is essential to beauty at its best. Also to continued youth. Women who omit it cannot hope to compare with women who employ it. Every girl and woman owes to herself this help.
But crude clays are out of date. My new-type clay—the very utmost in a facial clay—is now at your command. Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Clay is supplied by all druggists and toilet counters. Price, 50c and $1 per ounce. Also my Youth Cream, which should follow the clay. Also my Facial Youth, my famous Lymph cleanser. Also my Hair Youth, which brought my luxuriant hair. My Beauty Book comes with each.
Learn for your own sake, how much these helps can do. If the first package fails to delight you, your dealer will return it, price paid. Sold by Hoeschler Bros., La Crosse, Wis., and leading toilet counters everywhere.

The only carriage woven in desired shape from one endless wicker strand. Don't accept a substitute. Find the Lloyd name-plate on the seat.

DOCTOR TO SHOW IN CLINIC EFFECT OF GLAND PLANTS

Milwaukee Physician Declares Work Rebuilds the Body

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Transplantation of glands, a subject that has created world-wide interest in the last two years, will be demonstrated with a patient by Dr. Theodore Hubert Larson, Milwaukee, in a hospital here June 21 before the National Electric Medical association.

Dr. Larson also will operate upon one or more women at that time and explain his method of surgery.

The result of these operations, according to Dr. Larson, who says he has performed them successfully since 1912, is a complete rebuilding of the body of the patient. The procreative glands of women, he declares, have a profound influence in mental and physical health, and the loss of these glands, through diseases such as tumors, have caused thousands of women to suffer, he said. The transplantation of glands quickly restores normal health, he declared.

"The value of gland transplantation cannot be over-estimated," the surgeon said.

He claims to have demonstrated it successfully with forty patients.

Music a Great Asset In the Modern Home

CHICAGO—The way to counteract the demoralizing and disruptive influences that draw young people more and more away from the home to seek recreation and pleasure elsewhere, is not by criticizing and attacking them, but by constructive educational work.

Robert W. Lyon, Secretary of the American Better Home Bureau told the Music Industries Chamber of Commerce of the United States here today.

"This kind of a campaign will stimulate interest in the home and teach people how to make their homes so attractive that their young people will not be so easily lured away," Mr. Lyon added.

"In this program, music in the home should play one of the most important roles."

"We are trying to teach the people that beautiful homes are within reach of every income, however small, but this educational work cannot end with the mere physical construction and adornment of the home. The home that is to hold the love and tend the interest of youth must be dynamic and not static. There must be something doing, and one of the most powerful means of keeping the young folks at home is to make that something doing music."

"Believe that the player-piano and the phonograph have done more in the last 25 years to create a desire for good music in the home than all the work of all the orchestras, operas, symphony orchestras and teachers of music that went before them."

"With all the facilities that science and ingenuity have placed at the disposal of everybody, there is no longer any excuse for any home not having music, and good music of selling the American home back to the American people has only just begun. It is the work of a lifetime to which hundreds of earnest, unselfish men and women have consecrated their lives."

SEW YOUR OWN!

You know what a satisfaction it is to make your dresses—how it feels to display a product of your own skill and design—and how easy, too.

But you shrink from the thought of busting seams or finishing them on a machine—don't you?—especially if you're at least doubtful of the result.

Well, the Tribune has found a way to make the whole job of dressmaking as pleasant as the finished product will be satisfying. It consists of a series of articles by a famous New York dressmaker, each of which is full of helpful suggestions on dressmaking at home. They are simple enough for a novice to follow and contain hints that will help the most experienced.

The first article begins on the Woman's Page Thursday.

It seems as if we have trusted the sugar trust too long.

GRAND ARMY VETS PICK JANESVILLE FOR NEXT MEETING

Encampment Goes on Record as Favoring Strict Enforcement of Dry Laws

OSHKOSH, Wis.—The next grand encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic will be held at Janesville. That was decided at the business meeting Wednesday morning. A. L. Eaton of Superior was elected commander. Captain A. G. Hunsicker of Oshkosh was elected senior vice commander and Frank Fox of Milwaukee as junior vice commander.

The encampment went on record as favoring a strict enforcement of the Volstead act and of the eighteenth amendment. Violation of law was declared to be one of the most dangerous elements in the country today and a return to the days of saloons was opposed.

The auxiliary organizations will elect officers at today's session. Those auxiliaries in session include Women's Relief corps, Ladies of the G. A. R., Sons of Veterans, Daughters of the G. A. R. and auxiliary of the Sons of Veterans. The encampment will close Wednesday with a grand military parade at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon and a camp fire in the evening. Throughout the entire encampment the weather was perfect, and every detail arranged for the comfort and entertainment of the visitors was carried out.

The Eau Claire delegation of 158 persons including the 150th Cavalry band, was one of the marked features of the meeting. Veterans' Life and Drum corps of Milwaukee also excited much interest.

A post convention feature is planned for Thursday morning, when the visitors will be taken by automobile to the Wisconsin Veterans' Home at Waupun, where lunch will be served at noon by the officers of the home.

LOUIS BRINDEL IS HELD FOR HEARING ON DEAL CHARGES

Louis Brindel, charged by Art Deal with the theft of an automobile, was arraigned in county court Wednesday morning and on his plea of not guilty was remanded to the county jail to be held for examination on June 27. The warrant for Brindel's arrest was made out on March 5 but service on Brindel was not obtained until a few days ago. He has been in the vicinity of Genoa since last March it is said. Brindel denies that he stole the car. He says he had it two days and left the car at Third and State streets, after telephoning to Deal where the car could be found.

TROOPS REPORTED CONCENTRATING ON BULGARIAN BORDER

Bucharest and Athens to consider the consequences of the Sofia upheaval, and Serbian, Roumanian, and Greek troops are being mobilized along the frontiers.

King Alexander of Yugoslavia is being urged to appeal to the powers to take measures to have Bulgaria observe the strict letter of the treaty of Neuilly.

Pursue Fleeing Ex-Primer
SOFIA.—By The Associated Press. Former Premier Stamboulsky, accompanied by a private friend, is reported early today fleeing on horseback through the mountains of Central Bulgaria in the direction of the city of Pirdop, pursued by a squadron of revolutionary horsemen.

Earlier in the day the former head of the agrarian government was reported on the run accompanied by a group of 200 yellow guards, part of the contingent that had been stationed at his home in Slavovizna, and pursued by a detachment of troops. Later advice, however, indicated he had been deserted by virtually all those followers.

Several of his partisans who abandoned him and surrendered say that he had shaved off his black, bristling mustache and otherwise changed his appearance. The feeling expressed at the war office here is that Stamboulsky had caused bloodshed, that he therefore does not deserve money and is subject to execution by shooting if captured alive.

to the senate in full upon the matters mentioned and to set out its recommendations.

Severon to Head Inquiry?
It is reported authoritatively that Senator Severon will be appointed chairman of the committee of three called for in the resolution, if adopted. Senators George Skogmo, River Falls, and Senator W. A. Tins, Fond du Lac, are mentioned as the other two members.

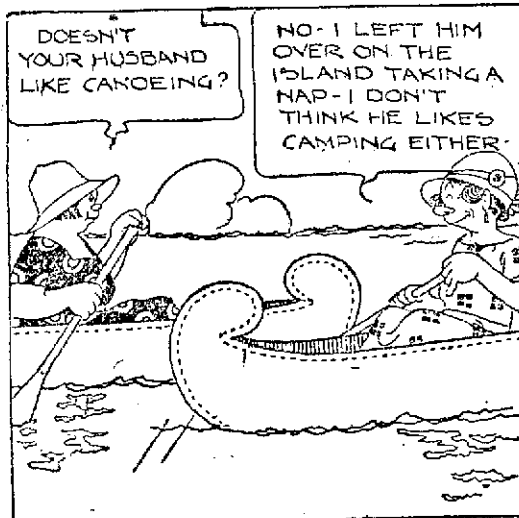

Senator Severon declared that an attempt will be made to have the resolution brought through the senate at the morning session and if successful that the committee will immediately organize after being appointed, and prepare to get under way early next week. He explained that the business of the senate would not be delayed or interfered with, since meetings of the committee could be held during the afternoon and on week-ends. The author of the proposed investigation believes it can be concluded in a few days.

FREE CHEST CLINIC FINE OPPORTUNITY FOR LOCAL PERSONS

Everyone Should Have an Examination Periodically to Check Ills

Periodic physical examinations, as a preventive health measure, are strongly advocated by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association which will hold a free chest clinic at La Crosse on June 25, 26 and 27. No one who owns an automobile, said one of the staff physicians, in a recent interview, would think of running it year after year without having it overhauled occasionally to see that the machinery is in good condition. Yet that is what the average person does to his body and human machinery is the only machinery which cannot be replaced. The average man or woman goes to a physician only when something has happened to the machinery when he or she is ill. A physical examination each year would save many people a great deal of trouble and worry. These periodic examinations are particularly important for all persons who have any contact with those suffering from tuberculosis, can readily be seen when it is understood that tuberculosis is a communicable disease, and unless discovered in its early stages, is extremely difficult to cure. A tuberculosis infection discovered early yields readily to proper treatment but when allowed to take firm hold its cure is long and tedious, and sometimes impossible.

In order that the disease may be discovered early it is important that no symptoms, however insignificant, be neglected. Among these appearing in the early stages of tuberculosis are: fatigue, vague pains in the chest, loss of appetite and weight, a persistent cough, indigestion, afternoon fever and sleeplessness. Others who are especially urged to attend are anemic and underweight children, former sanatorium patients, all those who have had tuberculosis and all persons who have had contact with the disease even though they are in good health, themselves. An examination in time may save a patient months of unnecessary suffering and expense. No child under the age of sixteen will be examined unless he is accompanied by a parent or some other responsible person.

SUIT FOR DIVORCE IS FILED AGAINST PATTEN HEIRESS

Desertion is Charged by Laurence R. Wilder; Reconciliation Plea Fails

CHICAGO, Ill.—Desertion, despite repeated pleas for reconciliation is alleged against Agnes Patten Wilder, only daughter of James A. Patten, Evanston millionaire, in a suit for divorce filed Tuesday in the superior court by Laurence R. Wilder, engineer, husband and son of John E. Wilder, wealthy head of Wilder & Co., tanners.

For months before her sudden departure to Montefiore, Calif., with their three adopted children on June 7, 1921, Mrs. Wilder, according to the bill filed by Attorney Phillips, Mack & O'Brien, had been guilty of desertion when, "wholly disregarding her marital vows and obligations, she refused to live with Wilder as his wife, although continuing to live with him under the same roof."

Runners of infelicity which followed the marriage were hushed from time to time as the young couple adopted children, in the hope, it is said, of bridging the several domestic crises which threatened to wreck their home. The children, Laura Louisa, 8 years old; Thomas, 5, and Jean, 3, are with Mrs. Wilder in California, and it is indicated that she will be allowed their permanent custody without protest from Wilder.

Stromwell Hurls Brilliant Ball Despite Bad Ninth

A score by Walters and three hits when they were in distressing need enabled the Nelsons to come out from behind and topple the La Crosse Giants in the opening Tuesday afternoon game at Capeland park Tuesday evening, 2 to 1. One of the largest crowds of the year saw the game.

A technicality in the ninth inning in substituting a runner for Tili, who had been injured, was the cause of the Nelsons' victory. Double Play by Nelsons
The Nelsons turned in a sloppy play in the seventh inning. Lowe hitting to Shields, doubling Williams who had singled at second.

Another feature of the play was Shields' brilliant pickup, bare-handed, off Williams' bat in the fourth inning. He recovered himself, cleverly to throw the runner out at first.

Taking advantage of one error and scoring two hits in the eighth inning, Shields' error seemed over the plate. The Nelsons' victory was due to a technicality in the ninth inning. "ISLE OF LOST SHIPS"
A gripping, phantasmagoric story of the sea is "The Isle of Lost Ships," which is to be the feature at the Rivoli theater, starting today. The story is from the pen of Crittenden Marriot, master writer of tales of the sea.

According to ancient superstition, there is a place in the Sargasso sea, which is situated in the center of the Atlantic ocean, where derelict ships came together and were held upon the surface by seaweed and kelp, floating on forever. Admiral F. W. Eberle, commanding officer of the Pacific fleet, told the director of the "ship graveyard" outside of San Francisco Bay, where thousands of craft of various periods are rotting away, and Tournour had many of the vessels moved down the coast to the spot selected for filming the big action of the picture.

In the cast of "The Isle of Lost Ships" are such excellent players as Milton Sills, Frank Campeau, Anna Q. Nilsson and Walter Long.

CASINO TODAY
Oscar, the elephant star in Thomas H. Ince's "Soul of the Beast," the Metro picture now running at the Casino theater, convinced his human colleagues by his eagerness to keep in front of the camera during the entire time that the picture was being made.

Oscar showed other signs of remarkable intelligence when he developed the habit of always trying to "beat" the camera, the other actors on the face for declared that there was no doubt that he was a born movie star.

The production is one of the most unique ever shown. It tells the story of a hapless little circus drudge and her elephant who run away from the injustice of a harsh stepfather. In the woods of southern Canada they meet with astounding adventures and eventually find happiness.

"SALOME"
If you like romance, and love conquering against all opposition, and a good fight, and desert adventure, and stories of the dazzling Orient, then go to the Majestic theater, where you can get all of these attractions and more, in "Malcolm Strauss' Salome."

to open an engagement here at the Casino theater Thursday. Here is a tale of mystery, of a lone bandit's operations, of a bursting dam and flooded town, of speedy action, valor and tender romance.

"LOST AND FOUND"
"Lost and Found" will be the feature at the Majestic theater for three days beginning Thursday. This is the picture which Goldwyn sent a big company, headed by R. A. Walsh as director, to the picturesque island of Tahiti to film.

The cast, headed by House Peters, Pauline Starke and Antonio Moreno, was considerably augmented by native talent. Tahitian maidens in native costume danced the sava-sava and other equally popular dances. Native warriors appeared in the thrilling battle scenes.

Captain Blackbird, a wealthy South sea trader, is the central figure in this story of adventure. Disillusioned and embittered when his wife deserts him, taking with her their eldest daughter, Lorna, Blackbird cherishes a secret hope of final retaliation. The series of events which bring Blackbird and Lorna together again, his recognition of her as his daughter, make a screen narrative of intense interest. A love story centering about Lorna and an American, Lloyd Warren, is woven through it.

Unmanned supply of iron in the United States at the beginning of 1921 was estimated at 9,555,000 metric tons. At nine months old the average baby should weigh 18 pounds.

STUDENTS PARADE IN COEDS' LINGERIE; 7 LOSE DIPLOMAS

VERMILION, S. D.—Seven University of South Dakota students were denied their diplomas at the commencement exercises pending investigation of an alleged raid on the girls' dormitories, where, it is alleged, the seniors stole lingerie of the coeds, later staging a parade in the downtown district garbed in the pilfered garments.

Those failing to receive their diplomas were five medical students, one engineering and one liberal arts. The parade resulted in the refusal of university authorities to permit twelve students to attend the public commencement.

OCOTON, Wis.—Fred Nelson, 49, prominent farmer near Lakewood, was found dead in a room at his farm house by neighbors. Death had resulted from heart disease.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Ill.—Although the wheat market here showed something of an upturn in price Wednesday at the outset, a decline soon took place. The bulk of the wheat was due to an unexpected advance in Liverpool quotations. Having here, however, lacked volume and with harvest conditions improved, better weathered wheat met under a moderate setback. Opening prices, which varied from 10 1/2 to 11 1/2, were followed by a decline to 10 1/4 to 10 3/4, and then continued to weaken. Provisions were firmer in line with hog values.

FINAL HEARING ON ELECTRIC RATES TO BE HELD THIS MONTH

June 20 Designated as Date for Case Involving La Crosse

MADISON, Wis.—The railroad commission announced today that final hearing on the petition of the Minnesota Light and Power company for readjustment of rates in 49 Wisconsin cities and villages, including La Crosse, Eau Claire and Chippewa Falls, would be held June 20 at Madison.

This case has been pending for several months, following a supreme court ruling which held invalid former rates established by the railroad commission under a so-called "loop system" of rate making.

Hot Summer Sun Trying On The Complexion

How To Protect Your Skin and Bring Roses to Your Cheeks

New York—Exposure to sun, dust and wind has a very bad effect upon the skin and complexion, but there is an easy way to overcome this. Mac Edna Winder, when her friends ask her about her wonderful complexion and the striking beauty of her hands and arms, says: "You can get the same effect in one night if you follow my advice," she says. "Just think of it, a marvelous change in a single night! Here is the identical process that removed every defect from my face, neck, hands and arms, and until you try it you can form no idea of the marvelous change. Before retiring cleanse the face, neck, hands and arms thoroughly with any good cold cream. If prefer Liska cold cream put up in sanitary tubes, to all others. In the morning after washing dry the skin thoroughly, apply Derwillo and lo, the marvelous transformation. The first application of Derwillo will astonish you. It makes the skin transparent, smooth and velvety, giving anyone a youthful appearance. If especially recommended Derwillo for a dark, sallow skin, shiny nose, tan, coarse pores, rough skin, puddiness, wrinkles and in fact every blemish the face, hands and arms are heir to. If your neck or chest is discolored from exposure, apply Derwillo and the objectionable dark will disappear as if by magic. It is absolutely harmless and will not produce or stimulate a growth of hair. No matter how rough and ungainly the hands and arms or what abuses they have had, through hard work and exposure to sun and wind, Derwillo will work a wonderful transformation. Over a million girls and women now use it in preference to face powder and other beautifiers. This is what two well known actresses say about it. Dorothy Dalton, the beautiful actress, says: "The first application of this wonderful Derwillo will astonish you. It makes the skin in all kinds of weather. That's why I prefer it to all other preparations and am never without it. Viola Dana, the well known star, writes: "I am often asked how I keep my complexion so fresh looking. It's a simple process for anyone to have a smooth, velvety, rosy-white, girlish complexion if she will use Liska cold cream to cleanse the skin and that well known toilet preparation, Derwillo, to beautify it. I recommend these preparations to all my personal friends and they are just as enthusiastic over them as I am." Note—To get the best effect be sure to follow the complete directions contained in every package of Derwillo. Drugists and department stores guarantee that there will be a noticeable improvement after the first application or they will refund the money. It is sold in this city under a money refund guarantee by department stores and all drugists, including Hoeschler Bros.
